
Chronic Illness and the Estate Plan: The New York and Estate Planning Blog

Martin M. Shenkman, Esq., focuses on the estate and business planning needs of high-net-worth individuals, closely held business owners, and real estate owners/developers. Bernard A. Krooks of Littman Krooks, LLP recently spoke with Marty regarding Estate Planning for someone with a Chronic Illness, discussing the differences and essentials about the planning process.

“Estate planning tools should be used to ensure quality of life. They shouldn’t be used as blunt instruments.”

– Martin M. Shenkman

To read the entire blog, click the URL below.

<http://www.elderlawnewyork.com/elderlaw/chronic-illness-and-the-estate-plan/>